

- a) My website includes four pages in total. Each navigational bar brings the user to a different page successfully. My navigation bar is consistent within the subpages. I included implementation of jquery through a bxslider plugin in the about page and a cycle2 plugin in the services page. I also included an accordion widget in the contacts page. For my ajax implementation, I included two requests to two text files. They are both located in the services tab. Overall, I tried to maintain a consistent style throughout the website and kept it short and clear.
- b) My peer evaluation mentioned I needed a brief description on my home page to let the user know what kind of website I made. I updated my website according to this by adding a section above my background picture and inserting 3 sentences to motivate and draw in the user to explore the website further.
- c) My dad asked me to create this website for his customers at his laundromat who are not fluent english speakers and make it convenient for them. I believe by adding brief and clear descriptions and necessary information that every customer needs to know before going to the laundromat, I have fulfilled his request. I think this website will help customers be more prepared and have all the resources they need on the website, however, in the future it may be modified to include more services my dad's laundromat may come to offer.
